U.S. Sending Arms Cargo To Saudi

Sale Approved Aug. 25

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department confirmed Wednesday it is sending Saudi Arabia another shipment of military goods. It added that sole of the equipment, mainly ammunition and spare parts, was arranged months ago.

While the Pentagon wouldn't disclose the value of the shipment, the State Department said less than a million dollars was involved.

A Pentagon spokesman told of the shipment when asked about a New York Post story that military cargo for Saudi Arabia was being loaded aboard the 6,714-ton freighter Monterey at a North Carolina port.

Officials said the sale to the Arab country was originally approved last Aug. 25, along with a controversial order for 18 M41 Walker Bulldog light tanks. Shipment of the tanks last February raised an international furor.

As was the case with the tank order, this latest shipment was paid for on Nov. 26, officials said.

A State Department press officer, Lincoln White, said the items being loaded at Sunny Point, N.C., do not include any major weapons such as tanks or jet planes.

White said the cargo was covered in a State Department announcement last February that 16 million dollars worth of arms orders from the Middle East had been approved. These included about seven million dollars worth from Saudi Arabia.

When a newsman asked why "an obscure port" like Sunny Point was being used for the shipment, White said he did not know unless it was a matter of "convenience of the shipper."

The Pentagon would not supply specific information on the goods involved but some officials said it

Egypt Recognizes Communist China

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt Wednesday became the first Arab country to recognize Communist China. The decision was announced after a Cabinet meeting.

There have been several trade and cultural agreements between Cairo and Peiping, but until now all the Arab states had recognized the regime of Chiang Kai-shek, with headquarters on Formosa, as the government of China.

All countries in the Soviet sphere of influence recognize Peiping. Other nations doing so are Yugoslavia, India, Burma, Pakistan, Britain, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Israel, Afghanistan, Netherlands, Indonesia, Ceylon, Finland, Nepal and Switzerland.

The government of Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser has taken the so-called neutralist course in the cold war. That means recognition of both East and West and trade with both sides.

No Farm Revolt Seen In Nebraska Election

Sen. George Steps Aside

It is astonishing to think that Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana was four years old when Sen. Walter George of Georgia first took his seat in the United States Senate. That is a fair measure of the years the 78-year-old Georgian has spanned with his distinguished public career.

It is always fashionable to characterize politicians in America as men of mediocre stripe. Many are indeed, but the country generally is fortunate enough to have a substantial sprinkling of outstanding, devoted public servants. George is one.

For many long years he performed the painful drudgery of mastering the intricacies of tax measures. As chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, he presided over the formulation of some of this nation's most important tax laws.

During the Great Depression and World War II, matters of finance were vital as never before to our whole national effort. Later on, however, the spotlight shifted from domestic affairs and war to the complexities of foreign affairs. George chose to shift with it.

He assumed the chairmanship of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It was the step that enabled him to bring crowning achievement to his third of a century in the Senate. For he has shown amazing aptitude for the delicate issues in the field.

Always he has ranged himself on the side of continuing America's important alliances with the friendly free world, and helping its friends to combat the scourge of communism. Many times he has spoken out at strategic moments to affect the course of world effort toward peace.

He believed the path of duty led down the road to bipartisanship in foreign policy, and through the period of Democratic Senate control under President Eisenhower he collaborated closely to produce a united program.

With fine dignity George declined to offer limp excuses for the retirement he has now announced.

He could easily have said "health," for he suffers certain minor ailments and undoubtedly his family has been pressing him to quit. But the real reason is that he faced almost certain defeat for re-election at the hands of Georgia's former Gov. Herman Talmadge.

Yet his usefulness to his country has not ended. Mr. Eisenhower, in fitting tribute to him for his extraordinarily able service, has offered him an ambassadorship to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Evidently the senator will accept.

This is good news for America. So long as he is physically able to serve, his associates in high office and his fellow citizens are sure to make such demands upon him.

When you have a man of talent and dedication, you cannot easily let him go.

Thinking It Over—

In a remote wild area in Africa, missionaries found a native village surrounded by a thorn fence which had no gate.

In the daytime a small portion of the fence was laboriously removed and at night the section of fence was rebuilt with much pain and hardship. The fence was to keep the lions out of the village while the natives slept.

The natives knew how to build gates but they wanted no gate in the barrier around the village, because a gate would only make the lions curious and the lions would then be more determined than ever to ravage the village.

The natives had a point in their logic. Civilized man has erected a lot of legal and personal fences, barriers and bans around himself for reasons long forgotten if they were ever known.

But many of the barriers we erect around ourselves are built only for the selfish purpose of avoiding our responsibilities to other people. We do not want to have to share their problems, their hardships and their need for fellowship.

Our fences frequently tempt other people to force themselves and their ideas on us. Our barriers create suspicion, and cut us off from God as well as man.

Let us tear down our superficial fences and take our place with men in protecting all mankind against the ravages of materialism and indifference.

Is Move to Suburbs Really 'Best for the Children'?

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

About five months before Leon's baby sister was born, his mother began to show much interest in Sunday ads of suburban homes.

Pointing to a pictured ranch house landscaped by lawn and garden, she'd say, "Look at this one, Bill." When Leon's father looked, she'd remind them their city rent would cover the carrying charges for the ranch house; she'd talk urgently and wistfully of what would be "best for the children."

We can understand this. The city park to which she takes Leon twice every day is five blocks distant. His outdoor times takes a huge slice of her indoor time. When she gets home she can't put him out in a safe back yard. So until his father gets home at 5:30, Leon's underfoot in one of the rooms of their five-room apartment.

As his mother considers these facts in connection with another child's arrival, we cannot wonder that she yearns for suburban space—and calls her own comfort and convenience what's "best for the children."

They are, indeed, her comfort and convenience are essential to her children. But so equally are they their father's.

Yet the question of whether a move to the suburbs will promote his comfort and convenience just never occurs to him or Leon's mother.

Nobody considers the possibility that he's unwilling to borrow on his insurance to buy the ranch house. The fact that he'll have to substitute a frantic commuter's schedule for the corner bus is ignored. Though easy access to his work gives him two extra hours per day with his little boy, nobody mentions this advantage of city living against the suburban living that will use them up.

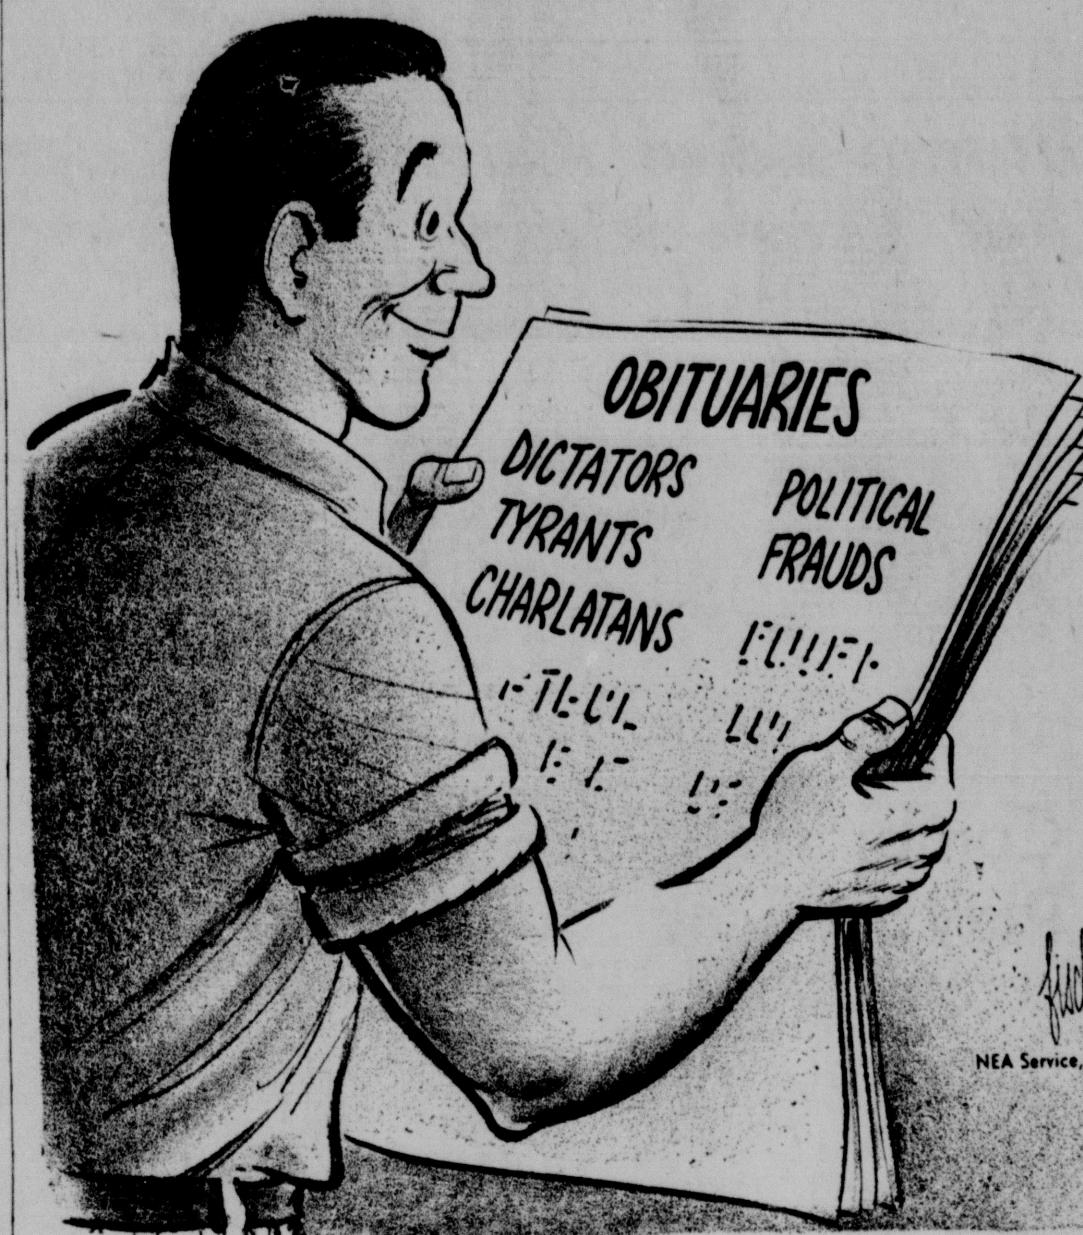

For the magic incantation has been spoken. The dread power of the phrase "best for the children" has been invoked—and has paralyzed the family of Leon's parents to really consider what's best for their children.

It is not necessarily "best for the children" to lose the companionship of their father to a back yard, no matter how bright the suburban sun, how fresh the rural air.

So let's undo the mental paralysis with these rousing words of psychoanalyst Irene M. Josselyn in her new book, "The Happy Child":

"Suburban living is offering society the creation of a social group of suburban widows and half-orphaned children. Regardless of the free play, the possibly better schools, the opportunity to have pets, play off the streets and enjoy a house, too often suburban living deprives the child of a father. Fathers are more important than play space."

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Has life held a foamy wonder for you lately? Have you felt better without knowing why?

Maybe it's because spring has come at last.

On the other hand, it may be because this is National Tavern Month. Yes, good old National Tavern Month is back again—so to say—bringing us another 31 days of dry, refreshing, thirst-quenching goodness.

To many people National Tavern Month is just another page on the calendar—the interval between the end of April and the first of June, just a time when the days get longer and warmer.

This disinterest naturally hurts the feelings of the sponsors of National Tavern Month, who spend a lot of money promoting it.

They don't expect the populace to turn the occasion into another Fourth of July, and go around shooting off firecrackers. But they do think it would be nice if you'd drop into your favorite tavern for a friendly drink at the pump, and pause for a moment in silent reverie over the long and important role taverns have played in history.

Many a wife thinks the neighborhood tavern is just a husband trap where the head of the house stops off on the way to the grocery store, stays five hours and comes home without the groceries.

The sponsors of National Tavern Month think this is an extremely limited and prejudiced view of a time-honored institution.

They say the origin of the tavern is lost in the mists of the past, but that it helped keep the Roman Empire intact. Along their famous roads the Romans had a network of taverns where the weary traveler could sleep, dine and gulp from the cup that cheers. (This chain of early hostels presumably was founded by a Roman named Conradius Huttonius.)

The sponsors like to point out that Thomas Jefferson and some of the other founding fathers gathered for relaxation in a tavern while composing the American Declaration of Independence. (That, of course, has endured much longer than the usual declarations of independence that went in barrels.)

It has been both popular and safe in this country to be anti-Russian to the extent of belittling the actions taken over the past year by Stalin's heirs, shrugging them off as propaganda, or claiming American policy forced the Soviets to hold in taverns.

They like to point out that in colonial days, as now, taverns were the centers of social and political discussion. As a matter of fact, in young New England town hall meetings and even court trials were held in taverns. (It might be a good idea even today to hold the Republican and Democratic National conventions in taverns. This would certainly make them shorter. It would be even better if they held both national party conventions in the same tavern at the same time, and let all the politicians uncork their oratory at once.)

But no one in this country can honestly say he knows the full significance of the changes which have occurred in Russia and the satellites, internally and externally, or how far they will go or where they will end.

There is no reason to believe the Russian dictatorship in the foreseeable future will melt away or collapse. There can be no illusion about the ultimate hopes of the Soviet leaders: A Communist world. They have talked of it world.

THE EDITORIAL suggested that doctors should be more suspicious of the possibility of psittacosis even with birds appearing healthy. Danger of the disease is not eliminated by the addition of a certain chemical to the drinking water which is a practice apparently used by some dealers.

That frankness provided justifiable suspicion about every Soviet move made thereafter. But suspicion alone can become a paralyzing force by acting as a substitute for detached appraisal and imaginative response to Soviet actions.

It is possible—perhaps only barely possible—that changes occurring behind the Iron Curtain will let loose forces which, once unleashed, may turn Russia into a more benevolent path than the present leaders intend or imagine.

The more rigid the American attitude remains, the less able this country will be to take advantage of Russian changes or even spot the real ones when they happen. It takes no imagination to say automatically: The Russians can do no good.

This government's present foreign policy is the one laid down by President Truman—who himself remains highly skeptical of Russian intentions—to meet Stalin's threatening policy in the 1940s: military alliances and forgoing bond.

Bartenders, after all, are not like big league baseball players. They don't expect much from their fans.

"I'd be satisfied if a guy would just order a martini," one said, "without adding 'and be sure to make it extra dry.' Nobody ever orders a wet martini."

"Just tell women—all women to stay out of the bar for the whole month—and give us a rest," said one lady-hating bartender.

But most of the bartenders surveyed said something like this:

"If the customers would just shut up about their troubles for a while—and listen to our troubles—life would be a dream."

There you are. For most of the year the bartender is a standing psychiatrist to his patrons. Why not, just for a month, become his psychiatrist?

The poor fellow might be so humbly grateful to find a listening ear he'll break down and even buy a drink on the house. Don't count on this, however, not even during National Tavern Month.

His heirs are even better armed than in Stalin's day but they have publicly repudiated him and proclaim their intentions as peaceful. That may not be convincing in this country.

But the more the Russians work at their appearance of peacefulness the more they are bound to affect and influence American allies and neutral nations who, living next door to Russia, know they might be reduced to power in an American-Russian war.

To them American rigidity, if it continues, may look sophomoric, dangerous and unattractive. The effect may be to weaken American leadership.

It seems only a matter of time, if this country hopes to retain its leadership, that it will have to strike out on bold new lines to match and outdo the Russian changes.

International Atom Agency Is Slowly Taking Shape

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—It will be June, 1957, or later before the new International Atomic Energy Agency is open for business.

Its "Atoms for Peace" plan was first proposed by President Eisenhower in December, 1953. Considering the snail's pace at which most diplomatic negotiations move, this is fast work.

But there are still many headaches ahead before IAEA becomes operative. Representatives of 86 countries will meet in September to consider the draft "Statute," as the new world organization's constitution will be called. It has been approved by a 12-nation drafting committee after six months of negotiation.

In this period there were eight separate conferences between U. S. and Russia officials, headed by Ambassador James J. Wadsworth and Georgi N. Zarubin. The Russians cooperated on this one, and didn't throw monkey wrenches.

Zarubin had plenty of authority to make compromises without referring everything back to Moscow. It showed the Russians can co-operate when they want to.

What the Russian motives are in going for this project, nobody knows. But it is pointed out that as one of the countries contributing atomic materials to IAEA, Soviet Russia won't be subject to controls like the receiving countries.

Combined Bands To Play Concert Sunday

The Illinois-MacMurray College band and Western Illinois State College band of Macomb will combine for a concert at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 20, in front of the Illinois College Memorial gymnasium. College officials have issued an invitation to the public to attend the concert, in which 120 musicians will participate.

This marks the third year in which these two college bands have combined. A full hour of music will be played. It was the desire of the directors of the two bands to increase the good relationship between the colleges through musical performance as well as to give the community a former state high school winners treat in hearing a large band of in solo and ensemble contests.

mature musicians. Western Illinois' band is composed of 72 musicians. These members are students from every department of the college. They tour each year and have made appearances throughout the midwest. At the beginning of this year, Dr. Forest Suyett became the director, succeeding Dr. A. L. Fritschell. Dr. Suyett has continued the high quality of performance so typical of this fine band.

The Illinois-MacMurray band is enjoying its best season since the merger of the two bands. It is fully balanced this year and has in its membership more than 25

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handled brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as $\frac{1}{2}$ gallon of concentrate cleans three 9x12 rugs.

CARROLLTON — Three local girls, Sue Ellen Carrico, Barbara Robinson and Sharon Robinson, will be vocalists at the program Friday evening, May 18, to be presented at the annual banquet for the White Hall High School Alumni to be held at the Methodist church in that city.

Miss Carrico is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Carrico and the Robinson sisters' parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Robinson, all of this city.

In the contest she showed in snapshots the before and after improvements made to the front part of her house. Mrs. Strawn submitted pictures as required and they showed improvements since 1950 and showed the house prior to 1946. The contest encouraged members to think through their landscape problems as attractively planted and maintained foundation plantings to present a pleasing setting for homes and improve appearance of the community.

Rep. Mack Seeks Midwest Site For $19 Million Lab

By MARION BURSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Mack (D-Ill.) wants the Agriculture Department to build a $19 million dollar animal disease laboratory in the Midwest instead of at Beltsville, Md.

Mack got support for his idea from the House Appropriations Committee and Agricultural Research Service officials are reviewing their previous decision to build at Beltsville.

Beltsville, a Washington suburb, is the site of the department's experimental farms.

Mack contends the laboratory should be built closer to a major livestock producing and packing house area — "where the animals are" — and away from densely populated Washington.

The department has said it picked Beltsville because of a large concentration of scientific and research facilities and personnel in this area, and because many existing buildings at Beltsville could be converted for laboratory use.

The House this week passed a money bill carrying 10 million dollars to start work on the laboratory.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Robert William Andrew Feller remained in New York for several hours after the Indians returned to Cleveland.

In a hotel suite that would do as the presidential, Bob Feller mulled over baseball television receipts and other business matters. He awaited a telephone call from J. Norman Lewis, the players' attorney. The American League player representative and president of a Cleveland insurance agency, the greatest pitcher of the last 20 years is now busier away from the ball parks than in them.

A report had Feller, 37, retiring after this season. It hinted that the one-time Iowa farm boy had grown tired of being an immortal hanger-on.

"Nothing to it," said Feller, "who still looks like the All-American boy. "Never felt better than I have this spring. As yet there is no indication that I can't pitch major league ball."

Feller checked on the double-headers and you gathered that he wasn't exactly perturbed about them piling up.

"I presume," said Feller, "that as long as I can produce I'll get a chance to pitch."

Inasmuch as Feller is eager to pitch, a natural question was whether he would pitch elsewhere were a deal made for him. American Leaguers will tell you that he would not be waived out of the circuit.

Feller's reply to the query will come as something of a surprise to the majority who sort of took it for granted that the long-time Rapid Robert was wedded to the one club after 20 years, like Walter Johnson with the Senators and Ted Lyons and the White Sox.

"I wouldn't say that I wouldn't pitch for another club," replied the old fireballer.

It was suggested that, with the speed and stuff Feller has shown in exhibition games this spring, he would win a lot of games, say with the Dodgers.

"I believe I would," he said. "Naturally, I'd like to finish my pitching with the one club. I wouldn't sign with another unless I were positive that I could still get leverage on the ball."

While it deprives him of anything approaching a regular pitching turn, Feller considers himself fortunate to be with an outfit so deep in accomplished pitching.

"That's what the American League scramble is," he said, "a race between our pitchers and Casey Stengel's bench and platooning. Al Lopez can trot out a pitcher for every pinch-hitter Casey can dig up."

Feller believes the Indians can win with a little hitting, admits the Tribe could use more of it in center field.

He doubts that the Yankees can prevail with their present pitching staff, predicts that George Weiss will make a deal for another starter and perhaps an additional fire fighter.

Feller relieved 11 times last season without being scored on. He had three complete games in 10 starts, which isn't bad in a setup where Ray Narleski or Don Moss gets the call at the slightest slip on the part of the incumbent.

Discussing the clubs with him, you get the idea that in his opinion what the Yankees need most is a pitcher like Feller.

That would stir up excitement in the stands—Bob Feller now pitching for the Yankees.

Giants Collect 13 Hits To Blast Chicago Cubs 9-3

NEW YORK (P)—Lefthander Don Liddle went the route for the first time this season as the New York Giants supported him with a 13-hit attack that included three home runs to defeat the Chicago Cubs 9-3 Wednesday.

Alvin Dark, Ray Katt and Whitey Lockman were the home run hitters but every man in the Giants' starting lineup except Hank Thompson had a hand in the assault on four Cub hurlers.

Bob Rush was the starter and loser for the Cubs. The big righthander left after four innings, trailing 4-2. He was tagged for five hits and issued two passes but should have had better luck. Three Giant runs were scored off him in the fourth after catcher Harry Chiti muffed a throw to the plate which would have resulted in a third out.

The Cubs scored two in the fourth on Pete Whisenant's double, Walt Moryn's single, and error and Eddie Miksis' sacrifice fly. Frank Kellert's eighth inning home run ended their scoring.

The Giants' big inning came in the fifth when they tallied four times, knocking out Jim Hughes. The big righthander was making his first appearance for Chicago following his sale by Brooklyn Tuesday.

The ring doctor, Irving Slott, ruled that three cuts—on the right eye, nose and mouth—were enough to keep Turner from coming out for the 10th and final round of the nationally televised non-title bout.

It was a fairly dull fight in which Saxon won revenge for the first defeat he ever suffered—in 1953 by Turner—after he had won 40 straight bouts.

Turner kept pressure on Saxon most of the way, repeatedly flailing him against the ropes, but Saxon's sharp counter-punching kept him in control.

Dr. Slott, inspecting Turner after the ninth, reported the same fine form he had last season before a mid-campaign appendectomy. Donovan had a 13-round before the operation and wound up with 15-9.

The Sox added an insurance run in the seventh off Griggs on Minnie Minoso's double and George Kelly's single.

Donovan struck out six and walked two as he displayed the same fine form he had last season before a mid-campaign appendectomy. Donovan had a 13-round before the operation and wound up with 15-9.

After the nine rounds, referee Frank Sikora and judge Harold Marovitz had Saxon ahead, while the other judge, Frank Clark, had Turner in front.

The Associated Press saw it for Saxon 89-85.

Saxon tried to make the bout appear like a friendly warmup for his pending match with Balsillio.

Kurt's manager, George Tait, complained bitterly that the bout was stopped.

"The doctor pulled the greatest injustice I've ever seen in the ring in 35 years," asserted Kurt. "I thought Turner was way ahead."

The attendance was announced as 2,408 with net gate receipts $4,298.

Chandlerville Trips Bath 4-3 In Seventh Frame

VIRGINIA — (Special)—Coach Ted Wainwright's Chandlerville Comets scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning here yesterday to defeat Bath 4-3 in the finals of Virginia's Sub-District.

The win advanced the Comets to the District finals at Lewis-town today, starting at 3 p.m.

Tom Huffman allowed Bath four hits and his double in the seventh frame was the deciding factor. Charlie Wessel, who had three base hits in three trips led off for the Comets in the seventh inning and smacked a double and advanced to third on Clark's sacrifice bunt. Shoemaker, Bath hurler decided to walk Huffman to put a runner on first and go for the double play ball. Shoemaker worked the count to three balls and no strikes but on the fourth pitch, Huffman reached out and stroked the ball for a double to end the ball game.

DETROIT (P)—Tom Hurd and Frank Baumann choked off the Detroit Tigers with splendid relief pitching over the final seven innings Wednesday as the Boston Red Sox handed Frank Lary his fifth defeat of the month-old season 4-2.

Baumann, 23-year-old southpaw, hurried in from the bullpen in the third inning after starter Mel Parnell severely sprained his left ankle sliding into second base in the Boston half of the third.

He limited the Tigers to four hits and one run for five innings before he weakened in the eighth and walked the first two men.

The righthanded Hurd then took over and left both runners stranded.

Baumann was the winner.

Boston went ahead with two runs in the third after Jack Phillips' home run had given Detroit one run in the first.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

WHEAT FIRMS; GAINS TWO CENTS

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat gave an impressively firm performance on the Board of Trade Wednesday in the face of approach of the harvest in the Southwest.

While new crop wheat futures gained nearly two cents, the rest of the grain market mostly had a steady tone. The only exception was new crop soybeans, down more than a cent at the finish.

Wheat closed 1 1/2¢ higher, corn 1 1/4¢ higher, oats unchanged to 1 cent higher, rye unchanged to 1 cent higher, soybeans 1 1/4¢ lower to 1 cent higher, lard unchanged to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Part of the buying in wheat apparently came from traders who were impressed by the performance of this grain Tuesday. While everything else declined, and in some cases quite severely, wheat ended higher. And at no time did it sink to the previous week's low.

A few truck lots of new crop wheat have arrived at terminals in southern Oklahoma but the big movement is still some weeks away.

Old crop soybeans advanced more than five cents at one time but they gave up much of their gain rather quickly toward the close. Final prices weren't much above the day's lows.

Early strength was associated with firmness in soybean meal. The Commerce Department reported exports of soybean meal from October through March totaled 246,749 tons compared with 155,450 a year earlier.

While new crop soybeans were ahead of the previous close several times, they never developed any sustained strength. Brokers attributed selling pressure to be-leaf a large acreage of soybeans will be planted.

Bids On South Main Resurfacing Will Be Received May 29th

Bids for resurfacing South Main street from the south side of the public square to the city limits at Michigan avenue will be received by the Illinois Department of Works and Buildings on May 29, it was announced Wednesday.

The present brick pavement which was laid in 1938 will be covered with a bituminous surface.

The awarding of a contract is expected to follow the opening of bids in about 10 days, if the bids are found to be satisfactory.

Mayor Hoagland, notified of the call for bids at Springfield, said ordinances regulating parking and drainage of South Main street will be necessary before the project gets under way.

The resurfacing of South Main, a distance of 1.78 miles, is one of the big street improvement projects of the summer here. Work is expected to start early in the summer if the bids are found acceptable and a contract is let.

From Michigan avenue south through South Jacksonville, Main street is paved with concrete. Jacksonville's share of resurfacing South Main, which includes only the parking areas along the curb, is estimated at $16,000. The state foots the bill on the traffic lanes because of the state and federal routes which use the street.

The state on May 29 also will receive bids for furnishing structural steel and metal handrail for a three span steel I beam bridge over Mauvalisterre creek on U.S. 36-54, near Jacksonville.

Craig Allen's body will be brought to the Shields Memorial Home in Greenfield where services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday.

Plaintiffs Get $200 Each In Settlement

A personal injury suit in which three plaintiffs asked damages aggregating $78,000, was settled in Morgan county circuit court Tuesday afternoon when judgment for $200 each was rendered in favor of the plaintiffs.

The plaintiffs waived the jury after some evidence had been heard in the suit of Joseph Donaga, Los Angeles, Calif., Jack and Louis Filicetti, Chicago, against Theodore Six of Jacksonville. The suit involved a car collision north of Winchester on Oct. 1, 1953.

A jury was selected Wednesday to hear evidence in the personal injury suit of Leo Holloway of Palmyra against Julius Ladage of near Modesto, involving a collision between an automobile in which Holloway was a passenger, and a tractor. The accident occurred south of Waycross on State Route 111.

Sister M. Magdala, C.S.C., Administrator of the Hospital, said the projection study which shows the flow of expected receipts through 1967 is vitally important to the Sisters of the Holy Cross as they plan the construction and negotiate with lending agencies for the immediate dollar need.

She said, "With Jacksonville citizens responding so very well to their pledge commitments, the Sisters of the Holy Cross feel free to enter into long-range financial arrangements which would otherwise be impossible."

She said the completed construction will run in excess of one million dollars.

Accounts Receivable $317,558

The study shows 1957 should produce the largest receipts—almost $100,000. The current year of 1956 approaches $90,000. The years 1958 through 1960 reflect a $20,000 to $30,000 receipt level.

The years 1961 through 1965 reflect a $10,000 to $12,000 bracket.

Sister Magdala pointed out that as the campaign continues into a development effort, newly acquired pledges will change the picture to a degree. However, the anticipated change is expected to be positive since it will show additional citizen money given to this community project.

A formal planning audit by a volunteer committee of Jacksonville bankers is scheduled shortly.

ED CAMPBELL, 65, Mail Carrier At Winchester, Dies

WINCHESTER—Ed Campbell, 65, a mail carrier in Scott county for 18 years, died at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning at Mineral Springs hospital in Louisiana, Mo., where he had been a patient since Monday. Mr. Campbell's home was in Winchester.

He pointed out that the cost of maintaining schools in Illinois had more than doubled since 1946. He said that in Illinois local taxes provided 77 per cent of school funds, state sales tax 22 per cent and 1 per cent was furnished by the federal government.

He stated that the principal problem in school finances today was in revision and equalization of assessed values of property. In conclusion the speaker suggested that school economies, curtailment in school programs and further consolidation of school districts would help solve the present school financial crisis.

Guests at the meeting included Karl Baker, Russell Walton, M. L. Culbertson, Bob Kauffman and Norman Carlson of the Jacksonville Kiwanis Club, who urged the Winchester Kiwanis members to attend the division ladies night to be held in Jacksonville May 30.
